Date: 24 May 2023

Dear Scholar/Practitioner,

We are truly honoured and privileged that you have been with us since the inception of the journey of the 8th International Conference on Public Administration and Development (ICPAD). We could claim that we invested our best effort to organize BPATC's most prestigious international event (i.e., ICPAD) in person. Therefore, all the enterprises initiated from time to time have not come to light due to unavoidable circumstances such as the global pandemic, health, and travel restrictions worldwide and so forth.

Given the context and analysis of the latest progress of the conference, the competent authority has finally decided to cancel the overall proceedings of the 8th ICPAD. Following the declaration of cancellation, the conference secretariat is going to nullify its activities related to the Conference (ICPAD).

It was a wonderful experience for us to be connected with you. We are glad to inform you that the centre will organize such type of event in future where your contribution and collaboration will be of prime importance. We hope that you would be with us while organising such kind of gathering of world-renowned scholars and practitioners.

We seek apology from the core of our hearts for disseminating the message of cancellation as it caused inconvenience to you throughout the wait. We are highly thankful to you for your patience and persistent cooperation with BPATC. We do believe that you would be approachable as you were before in our next call for any international event.

Thanking you,

(Dr. Md. Mohoshin Ali)
Conference Chair, 8th ICPAD
